CLAIMS

1. Claims 1-13 had been canceled.

Claims 14-17, 19, 23-25 are pending.

Claims 18, 20-22, 26-30 are now canceled due to their non-elected status.

112 First Paragraph Rejection

2. Claims 14-17, 19, 23-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. See comments below.

Claims 14-17, 19, 23-25 are also rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. See comments below.

In claim 14, it claims various information items and key operation which can not be supported from the original disclosure. These items can not be selected by the claimed key operation, therefore, it is considered as unenabling and a new matter.

Art Rejection

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 14-17, 19, as best understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wicks et al. (US 6128475) in view of Haas (EP 0602840) and Sudo et al. (US 5987336).

Regarding claim 14, Wicks shows a display (12) and a key operation section (14-15) comprising:

A first key section (15) including to select a desired item (moving a highlighted portion to a desired information item) (col. 3, lines 54-58), and to execute the item (selecting the desired item) (col. 3, lines 59-65); and

A second key section including a ten key pad (14).

Wicks differs from the claimed invention in that the first key section is a joy-stick key instead of a selection key pad and an execution key.

However, Haas teaches providing a joy-stick key (fig. 2) and its equivalent button key having an execution key surrounding by arrow keys (fig. 4). Further, from the present application (figs. 1 and 7), it also shows the two types of keys, and there is no teaching of criticality for one type over another.

Hence, it would have been obvious for one skilled in the art to use Wicks' joy-stick key as it is, or replace the joy-stick key with the button keys as taught by Hass. This simply can be considered as a variation of Wicks because the basic operation of the key is substantially unchanged.

Wicks further differs from the claimed invention in that it does not show the row and columns information items.

However, the concept of highlighting and executing the selected item is well taught by Wicks. Further, this notorious well known information items are displayed in rows and columns, this is also taught by Sudo. Sudo also shows the highlighting and executing (calling) a selected phone number (col. 10, lines 43-53 in Sudo).

Hence, it would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to incorporate the information items shown by Sudo in Wicks, this is a well known method for storing information items, such as names and phone numbers, such that it allows the user to store and access information in the device (col. 2, lines 31-47 in Sudo).

Regarding claim 15-19, 23-25, the combination of Wicks, Haas and Sudo shows:

A housing and the keys (fig. 1 in Wicks);

Movement operation keys and their contacts (402-405 in Haas) for selecting an item;

The enter key and its contact (406 in Haas) for executing the selected item;

The single lever-type key (15 in Wicks) for selecting and executing the selecting item;

The row and columns of items and the keys (see comments in claim 14);

The calling function (the highlighting and executing/calling a selected phone number, col. 10, lines 43-53 in Sudo).

ARGUMENT

5. In response to the remarks (pages 11-14) filed 08/26/04 and 1/24/05, applicant mainly argues about the information items. With respect to this issue, a phone call was made to Mr. Raulerson (see interview summary), it is agreed that the amended portion of claim 14 has 112 problem and is difficult to evaluate this issue, see also comments above.

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 14-17, 19, 23-25 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

7. Applicant's submission of the requirements for the joint research agreement prior art exclusion under 35 U.S.C. 103(c) on 08/26/04 and 1/24/05, prompted the new ground(s) of rejection under 37 CFR 1.109(b) presented in this Office action.

Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.02(l)(3). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
